2022 EXPOCAN POLICIES

- Exposition members and qualified Exposition non-members permitted entrance to the ExpoCAN trade show as attendees at all times.
- Exposition members and qualified exposition non-members may participate in the trade show as attendees only.
- Associate members (primary and secondary designated members) that are owners/managers, or employees, of a member organization with an official booth in the trade show are granted access as exhibitors at all times.
- Associate members (primary and secondary designated members), whose companies are closely related or affiliated, may share a single booth. In this situation, a maximum of two companies may share one booth with the cost being 50% more than the posted booth fee. Each associate member company will be provided with a listing on the exhibitor floor plan and handouts.
- Associate members (primary and secondary designated members), whose companies are exhibiting at the trade show have the privilege of receiving a list of pre-registered delegates prior to the Annual Conference & trade show. This list is to be used one time, prior to the Conference to encourage expo member attendees to visit the associate member company's booth. Using this list post conference will result in the loss of the privilege for the following year. Any post-conference correspondence will be restricted to the qualified leads that were gathered by the associate member company during the trade show.
- Associate members (primary and secondary designated members) that are owners/managers, or employees, of a member organization without an official booth in the trade show are not granted access at any time during the official hours of the trade show.
- Suppliers that qualify for non-member participation at the Annual Conference, may purchase a booth at a premium fee that is equivalent to 60% or more of the regular booth fee applied for CAEM members. This same supplier must hold a non-member full conference delegate registration prior to purchasing a booth and participating in the trade show. Qualified non-member suppliers are not permitted to share a booth.
- Suppliers that qualify for non-member participation at the Annual Conference, without an official booth in the trade show are not granted access at any time during the official hours of the trade show.
